COTTON MARKETS.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, October 7 .- The cotton market opened easy, at a decline of 10 to 13 points, and soon sold 18 to 22 points inder the closing prices of Saturday as a result of liquidation, southern hedge selling and local bear pressure, inspired by easier cables, better weather in the south over Sunday than expected, and talk of increased spot offering. The decline was checked around 10.72 for January by covering of shorts and a little fresh buying. promoted by official predictions for a cold wave toward the end of the week, but immediate weather conditions in the south were considered very favorable, and after rally of 5 or 6 points the market became nervous and irregular. CHICAGO, October 7.-Wheat prices sank today, pulled down by large re ceipts northwest. The arrivals there were 50 per cent in excess of both last week and a year ago. The opening was 18 to % off. December started at 90% to 1, and declined to 90% Slowness of demand caused corn to sag, December opened unchanged Oats weakened with other cereals. De cember opened a shade to %a¼ down, at 32 to 3218, but seemed disposed to keep within that range. Strength at the yards carried provisions higher. First sales were a shade to 10 up, with January at 19.35 for pork, 10.971/2 for lard and 10.20 for ribs. After a further decline a rally took place in wheat owing to the relative smallness of the visible supply increase and because of big export clearances. The close was steady at 911% for Decem ber, the same as Saturday night. The corn market later suffered an addi tional backset, the result of fine weather. The close was steady, with December

IS NOT A THIRD TERMER

Applicant for Citizenship Had Heard of Progressives—Did Not Know Teddy's Name.

"There is a third candidate for President, but I don't know his name," said Enrico V. Sesso, an Italian seeking citizenship, when asked today by Justice Gould of the District Supreme Court to name the aspirants for President. The crowded courtroom resounded with laughter because a resident of Washington could not call the name of the third termer.

Justice Gould smiled perceptibly. It was several minutes before order was restored and the examination of the would-be American could proceed.

"Taft and Wilson" was the answer

Then looking at the justice and perceiving an expectant expression on his face, the applicant remembered that he had heard something of a third party and announced to the court that he could not recall the name of Roosevelt. The answers of Sesso to other questions
